Question	Your Answer	Reasoning
What motivates you most?	Justice and fairness	The Fianna are passionate protectors and often driven by deep, fierce loyalty and a sense of right and wrong, fitting with a desire for justice.
How do you view technology?	Neutral, depends on its use	The Fianna, while romanticizing the past, are less rigid than other tribes and can see the practical use of a tool. A Ragabash is a scout who needs to adapt to survive in the modern world.
Your ideal community would be:	Tight-knit and loyal	The Fianna value strong familial bonds, intense loyalty, and heroism. They are a "family" tribe above all else.
When faced with conflict, you prefer to:	Outthink and manipulate	This is the core strength of a Ragabash . While a Fianna might prefer a direct fight, the Ragabash is the trickster who avoids unnecessary bloodshed and gathers intel first.
How do you feel about rules and tradition?	Question and challenge them if needed	The Ragabash's role is to question authority, test boundaries, and introduce new ideas. This prevents stagnation, though the Fianna part of you still respects tradition deep down.

Question	Your Answer	Reasoning
A corrupt official endangers the city. You:	Work from the shadows, sabotage their plans	A Ragabash is the shadow operative. They don't want a direct fight if they can undermine the enemy's strength through clever, unseen actions.
You encounter a helpless animal suffering. You:	Rage against the cause, take direct action	The Fianna are passionate and fiercely protective. You'd react with immediate, powerful emotion and action against whatever caused the suffering.
Your group is divided on a decision. You:	Listen, mediate, and suggest options	The Ragabash, the "new moon," observes from the periphery. You're adept at seeing all sides and using your cunning to offer a solution that satisfies, or at least tricks, everyone.
A stranger requests refuge. You:	Approach cautiously, consult with peers	A Ragabash is naturally distrustful, always testing and sizing up threats. While a Fianna might be welcoming, the cautious side takes over when the security of the pack is involved.
You witness injustice. You:	Plot a clever and discreet response	Direct intervention can be costly. A Ragabash's first instinct is not to rush in, but to find a cunning, effective way to deal with the injustice that protects yourself and your pack.
Which resonates with you?	Mother Earth and wild places	The Fianna are strongly connected to the spirits of the wild and the romanticized natural world of the British Isles and Ireland, even if they must operate in the city.
For you, leadership should be:	Earned through respect	While not overly hierarchical, Fianna leaders are legendary heroes and poets who win the love and loyalty of their kin through their deeds, songs, and courage.
How do you treat secrets?	Protect and use strategically	As the scout and trickster, information is your most valuable asset. You'd guard secrets until the moment they can be deployed for maximum effect against your enemies or to help your pack.
How do you view modern human society?	Flawed but redeemable	The Fianna are deeply intertwined with human culture and history (particularly Celtic) and see the potential for heroism and art. It's messed up, but worth saving.

Question	Your Answer	Reasoning
If given supernatural power, you'd:	Fight the world's greatest evils	This aligns with the Fianna's heroic nature. They are warriors and poets who want to be remembered for great, passionate deeds.
